NEW PRODUCT LAUNCH

Restore Liquid

PURE BIO is excited to announce that we are now UK suppliers of RESTORE - a new generation, earth-derived supplement composed of lignite extract. It is the first dietary supplement that delivers a balanced family of bacterial metabolites to promote a healthy firewall of tight junctions in the gut wall and blood brain barrier.

Restore has been shown, both in the laboratory and clinically, to help support the functioning of the gut barrier and improve gut health by strengthening the tight junction gut barrier, even in the presence of gluten and toxic herbicides, such as glyphosate, which lead to leaky gut.

- Restore is a new generation, earth-derived supplement. It is not a probiotic; it is not a prebiotic- rather it is a carbon-rich, alkaline liquid, with lignite-derived trace organics and essential trace amino acids.
- One of the main elements in Restore is the lignite extract. Lignite comes from decomposed prehistoric matter. As plants decompose, they first form peat, which then turns into humate, then lignite, then leonardite and finally to coal. All of these are rich in carbon.
- Restore is vegan, naturally gluten-free, dairy-free, soy-free, latex-free, sulphite-free, preservative-free, non-GMO, and is produced in a facility free of allergens, including peanuts and tree nuts.

Dr Zach Bush explains how Restore works:

Increasingly extensive research is providing evidence of a growing number of autoimmune and neurodegenerative diseases being related to the health of the gut microbiome and the integrity of the gut lining.

A 2015 study showed a relative abundance of Enterobacteriaceae in Parkinson's patients; the levels of which directly correlated to the severity of their postural and gait dysfunction. Enterobacteria are disease-producing bacteria which disrupt levels of short-chain fatty acids (SCFAs). SCFAs play an important role in the maintenance of the gut barrier function and low levels promote inflammation and breaches in the tight junctions of the gut.

Sponsorship Update

ODETTE HORNBY'S LATEST CHARITY ADVENTURE IN NEPAL

Pure Bio is proud to have once again sponsored Odette in her latest adventures in Nepal - we thought you would be interested to read her report.

My time was divided between trekking to Everest Base Camp and volunteering in an orphanage. Unfortunately, due to weather conditions, we didn't quite make Everest Base Camp. We set out on the final day at 4am to be hit by -15C snow storms. We were forced to turn back when all our water froze and one of the team came down with hypothermia. This was particularly challenging and stressful for me as I was asked to stay with the person with hypothermia and keep them conscious for 3 hours until the helicopter arrived. Having to turn round after not making it and only being less than a mile away was devastating, but all part of the challenge. I will one day go back and achieve my dream!

The orphanage was an eye-opening experience. The orphanage housed around 120 children, ranging from 2 to 18 years of age. When shown the bedrooms, I noticed that the amount of beds didn't house all the children, which is when I received the shocking reply "a minimum of 2 children per bed and a maximum of 5". This didn't perturb the children though! Most had come to the orphanage 2 years ago after the devastating earthquake. The earthquake still leaves Nepal with troubles and lots of ruin, but slowly they are restoring the country. My time at the orphanage involved many different elements:

- building a playground for the children so that when they finished studying they had somewhere to play. (I never realised slabs were so heavy until I had to carry them!)
- painting rooms to give back a sense of life
- teaching English, Maths and Science to the children
- spending one-on-one time with the children teaching them everyday skills such as sewing

I was personally struck by the fact that all the children were smiling all the time, despite not having families. This was especially poignant on Mother's Day when many were old enough to remember their mothers and know they would not see them again. It was touching that they regarded the ladies in the orphanage as their mums.

Thanks to all at Pure Bio for the extremely kind donation!

Odette
