**COELIAC DISEASE UP TO 9 X MORE COMMON IN YOUNG PEOPLE**

Coeliac disease is linked to common chemical pollutants, according to the NYU Langone Health, NYU School of Medicine. Elevated blood levels of toxic chemicals found in pesticides, non-stick cookware and fire retardants have been tied to an increased risk for coeliac disease in young people, new research shows.

For the study, researchers analysed levels of toxic chemicals in the blood of 30 children and young adults, ages 3 to 21, who were newly diagnosed with coeliac disease at NYU Langone Hassenfeld Children's Hospital. Test results were compared with those from 60 other young people of similar age, gender and race. People with genes HLA-DQ2 and HLA-DQ8 are known to be at greater risk of being diagnosed with coeliac disease. Other symptoms of coeliac disease include diarrhoea, fatigue and anaemia.

LOW VITAMIN B12 LINKED TO AGEING, AUTISM AND SCHIZOPHRENIA

Vitamin B12 supports normal brain development. A lower than normal level of vitamin B12 in the brain could adversely affect neurodevelopment in younger years, as well as learning and memory later in life. A new study published last week in PLOS One found that vitamin B12 levels in the brain are much lower in the elderly population, as well as significantly lower in individuals with autism or schizophrenia.

VITAMIN B12 (ADENOSYL/METHYL) LIQUID

We are pleased to announce the launch of a new Viridian product - Vitamin B12 \(Adenosyl/Methyl\) Liquid.

This completes our range of B12 LIQUIDS and for our full range of Vitamin B12 products please click here

A high potency B12 blend in liquid form for optimal absorption

Naturally red, Viridian's Liquid B12 is formulated in a base of glycerine (from coconuts) for easy absorption and contains natural orange oil for a pleasant flavour.

This vegan liquid formulation is made using a natural fermentation process and includes both Methyl and Adenosylcobalamin. These 2 different forms are at varying stages of metabolism and are required and used for different processes in the body.

Methylcobalamin has demonstrated the potential to support healthy cognitive and nerve function as well as memory and emotional well-being. It contributes to normal energy-yielding metabolism.

Adenosylcobalamin is the co-enzyme for the conversion of methylmalonyl-CoA to succinyl-CoA. This is a key reaction in one of the pathways of the citric acid cycle. It is, therefore, crucial to the normal process of gluconeogenesis.

Vitamin B12 contributes to normal energy-yielding metabolism, to normal functioning of the nervous system and to normal homocysteine metabolism.

Vitamin B12 also contributes to the reduction of tiredness and fatigue. It is essential for normal immune function and psychological function, and is essential in the production of red blood cells.

This product is free of palm oil and GMO ingredients; and is suitable for vegetarians and vegans.
